

Privacy and cookies policy

This Privacy Notice may vary from time to time so please check it regularly.

This Notice describes the types of information collected, how that information is used and disclosed, and how you can access, modify, or delete your information.

University of Plymouth Enterprise Limited (company number 03707827) whose registered office is at Finance Dept, Emdeck Building, Plymouth, Devon, PL4 8AA (“we”, “us” or “our”) is the ‘data controller’ for the personal data we collect. We are registered with the Information Commissioner’s Office with registration number Z2829314.

1. Marketing, analytics and guest services

How do we collect information about you?

- 1. Sign in: We will collect personal information on you when you use our Centre Sign In facilities such as full name, visiting company name and vehicle registration.
- 2. Feedback: provide feedback to us through our online surveys where you may provide your contact details and subscribe to receiving marketing information. You can also provide us with feedback through writing to or emailing the centre with any comments, complaints, or suggestions.
- 3. Website usage: We may also collect information from you automatically when you access and use our Online Services, including the time and duration of your visit, the referring URL, your Internet Protocol (IP) or MAC address, the type of device you use and its operating system. As with most websites, we also operate cookies on ours and further details can be found in the section on cookies below.
- 4. Enrolling for an event: we may collect your name and contact details if you wish to participate in an event that is organised at one of our centres. This data may be captured on a third-party booking system.
- 5. Promotional Photography or Filming: we may take photographs or video of you when you attend one of our events. If you have concerns or do not wish to be photographed or filmed please raise these with a member of our staff. These images will be used for promotional purposes on our website and social media.
- 6. Interaction with social media: depending on the Privacy setting you have applied in your Social Media accounts, and based on the content that you choose to share, when you interact with our Social Media presence we will have access to your user generated content, such as posts, comments, pages, profiles and images. Also depending on the Privacy setting you have applied in your Social Media accounts, and based on the content that you choose to share, we may have access to contact details, personal information (such as age, gender, employer, education, location and habits and preferences).

7. Car parking: we may collect your registration number as a key identifier to process vehicles. The purpose is to plot the vehicle movements, apply fees and membership etc. Your credit/debit card details will be collected if you choose this payment method. Our payment providers and operators of our Car parking services are third parties. We use FxPlus as car parking operators and therefore processors of this data. We use Newpark Security Limited payment processors and Global Payments merchant banking services.
8. Loan or hire equipment: you may provide us with your personal details so that we loan or hire equipment to you, such as office equipment, furniture or moving/handling equipment.
9. Miscellaneous Forms: there are miscellaneous forms at site which can also record your personal information – for example induction, lost property, incident reports, event/room booking etc.
10. Postal Service: We may provide a service to distribute mail to you at our site and we will use your contact details on our mailing system to notify you.
11. Access Control: We may ask you for an email address and a photo from which a biometric file of you will be created should you wish to participate in face recognition access control systems at one of our centres. This data may be captured and maintained by third parties. Privacy policy found here.

In all the above instances, we will only provide you with email marketing where you have consented, and you can withdraw this consent at any time by clicking the unsubscribe link within the emails you receive or by emailing Reception with your request.

We may also use third party PR/marketing agencies who may have access to your personal details to develop email PR/marketing campaigns and social media, to provide customer insight through the analysis of data and to collect personal data on our behalf.

For social media, our purpose is for our legitimate interests to i) respond to customer complaints; ii) obtain insight into the use and perception of our customer offerings so that we can improve them. For example, we collect and analyse your public posts that you make directly to us on social media to help us understand if we are receiving negative or positive comments across all our social media channels) run promotions, competitions and events to increase engagement with our customers.

License plate data is also collected for our legitimate interest to understand how the car park is used to optimize the customer experience.

Data minimisation and retention

We will only collect the minimum amount of personal information necessary and will only keep your information for as long as you remain engaged with our Centres. Where you unsubscribe from our marketing, we will add your email address to our suppression list and delete any additional information that we hold about you.

For Sign in/out purposes, your personal data will be held for 12 months and then deleted from our system.

For analysing responses to customer feedback, we generally keep these for 15 months to allow year on year comparisons.

Images of vehicles are deleted after 90 days and vehicle movement information, violations and debug logs are deleted after 12 months.

2. Security

How do we collect information from you?

As part of our security operation, we will also be collecting personal images relating to visitors and customers to its properties from CCTV, ANPR (Automatic Number Plate Recognition) and for the optional use of facial recognition systems.

We use third party service partners to provide security services, the information recorded through these technologies is held on systems maintained by them. The data we collect may be shared with the police, tenants, local authorities, other sites or local crime reduction partnerships and initiatives for our legitimate interests to run successful businesses in environments that are safe for our staff and customers, and the prevention and detection of crime. These organisations may also share data with us. ANPR data can be shared with third parties for the purposes of enforcement.

We may also obtain and share the information with insurance companies where they request data relating to insurance claims to support their legitimate interests, or those of their clients, or to defend legal claims.

We also capture personal data within Access Control. Personal data is also collected from visitors to our properties. Access control data is held within our systems but may be maintained by third parties and the visitor management data may be held on third party systems.

In relation to access control and visitor data, where the data relates to our employees, contractors or visitors, we consider ourselves to be the Controller. However, personal data relating to our occupier's staff and employees, we consider our occupiers to be the Data Controller. Our sites use systems hosted by third parties to register visitors and if relevant to the site, collect facial recognition information for which they are considered the controller. This data is used by our reception to provide access to the building.

Security Analytics: Our CCTV may be equipped with technology that recognises the presence of a person (not a specific person) and raises a security alert based on a number of triggers relating to the position of the person relative to the building, such as a person in the building after it is closed or in an inaccessible area. The alerts are reviewed by a security operative to determine the appropriate response. The technology provides University of Plymouth Enterprise Limited with support in keeping its premises secure and its occupants safe as a legitimate interest, and if relevant to the site, may involve facial recognition processing, for the purpose of unique identification through biometrics.

In relation to third parties, we ensure that they will also safeguard your data – please see Protection of Your Information below.

For what purpose is it collected?

CCTV, ANPR, Visitor and Access control data is collated to pursue our legitimate interests to protect the property in question, to protect the safety and vital interests of our visitors, employees, tenants and customers, to assist with the prevention and detection of crime and to provide our contracted service to our tenants. CCTV is not used for monitoring of staff or customers or contractual performance, however, if CCTV is required as part of a disciplinary investigation it can be used for this purpose if the seriousness of the investigation warrants it.

ANPR is collected to fulfil a contract between us and the users of our parking facilities, including enforcement action.

Access control data is processed because of our contractual responsibilities to our occupiers.

Data minimisation and retention

For CCTV: Generally, this data will not be held for longer than 31 days unless an incident or suspected incident has occurred.

ANPR: Images of vehicles are deleted after 90 days and vehicle movement information, violations and debug logs are deleted after 12 months.

Access Control Systems: Access provided by card or facial recognition and the personal data associated with them will be deleted on a user's last day or by request from a business manager. Access data will be purged from the system after 24 months. Any passes which have remained inactive for twelve months will have all data relating to the card permanently deleted.

Visitor Management Systems: All data is deleted from our system after 12 months.

3. Accident and incident reporting

How do we collect information from you?

When an incident occurs at one of our properties, we are required to document the particulars of an incident which may include witness statements, CCTV footage, photographs and written reports. This information may include special categories of data depending on the nature of the incident. A third-party system is used to log details relating to these incidents and physical paperwork may also be stored on site.

The data may be shared with third parties such as insurance providers and legal advisors to defend a claim, government or other competent organisations who are required to report on incidents by law or the police to investigate a crime. It may also be shared with a third party who are liable for a claim under their contractual relationships with us for the purposes of allowing them to defend a claim. This information may also be shared with government or other competent organisations who are required to report on incidents by law or the police to investigate a crime.

For what purpose is it collected?

This information is collected to ensure that we comply with our legal responsibilities in relation to Health and Safety investigation and reporting, and in relation to any future legal claims. The information can also be used to prevent and detect crime, or to protect the vital interests of individuals. Where health information is collected we may also need this for our substantial public interest for Insurance processing.

Data minimisation and retention

All personal data (CCTV, Witness Statements, photographs and written reports) relating to an incident is held for six years, unless there are reasons to retain it for longer, such as an ongoing HSE investigation, a suspected pattern of fraud, or because an injury has been sustained by a child.

4. Other uses

In addition to the purposes already described, we may use information collected to perform other important business operations, for example: to understand usage patterns (such as foot traffic) within our properties; to develop, provide, improve and personalise products and services; and, to provide customer service/support. We may undertake additional research, analysis, and surveys, both online and in our centres. The lawful basis for this use of Information is for our legitimate business interests.

5. Other recipients and third-party transfers not detailed previously

We may pass on or allow access to your information:

- to our suppliers, contractors and professional advisors where this is necessary for them to provide services and facilities to us, such as to provide car parking, access or maintenance services;
- to any purchaser of all or part of our business or any of our properties;
- to sell, make ready for sale or dispose of our business in whole or in part including to any potential buyer or their advisers;
- where we are required to do so by law, court order or other legal process;

- where, acting in good faith, we believe disclosure is necessary to assist in the investigation or reporting of suspected illegal or other wrongful activity. This may include exchanging information with other companies and organisations for the purposes of fraud protection and credit risk reduction; to protect and defend our rights or property; to deal with any misuse of any of our Services; or to enforce or apply our terms and conditions and other agreements with third parties;
- to our group companies and affiliates or third-party data processors who may process data on our behalf to enable us to carry out our usual business practices.
- University of Plymouth Enterprise Limited uses Microsoft Office 365 cloud technology for its operations. Its data centres are located with the EEA.

6. Protection of your information

We have in place administrative, technical and physical measures designed to guard against and minimise the risk of loss, misuse or unauthorised processing or disclosure of the personal information that we hold. We place similar obligations on our third parties and risk assess their security based on the sensitivity of the personal data that they hold.

If we transfer your personal information outside of the UK, it will continue to be subject to one or more appropriate safeguards set out in the law. These might be the use of model contracts in a form approved by regulators, or having our suppliers sign up to an independent privacy scheme approved by regulators.

7. Links to other websites

This Privacy Notice only applies to the websites or systems provided or maintained by us. If you link to another service and/or website not maintained by us, you should remember to read and understand that service and/or website's privacy and cookies policy as well. We are not responsible for any use of your information that is made by other services and/or websites. Links or advertisements do not imply that we endorse or have reviewed such third parties or their privacy practices.

8. Your rights

You have the right to opt out of receiving any marketing information which we send you.

Your duty to inform us of changes.

It is important that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal information changes during your working relationship with us.

Your rights in connection with personal information

Under certain circumstances, by law you have the following rights:

- Subject to certain conditions, request access to your personal information (commonly known as a "data subject access request"). This enables you to receive a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it. If possible, you should specify the type of information you would like to see to ensure that our disclosure is meeting your expectations. Disclosure should not impact the rights and freedoms of other people, e.g., privacy and confidentiality rights of other staff.
- Subject to certain conditions, request correction of the personal information that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate information we hold about you corrected. You also have a responsibility to help us to keep your personal information accurate and up to date. We encourage you to notify us of any changes regarding your personal data as soon as they occur, including changes to your contact details. This right only applies to your own personal data. When exercising this right, please be as specific as possible.

- Subject to certain conditions, request erasure of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal information where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. We may not be in a position to erase your personal data, if for example, we need it to (i) comply with a legal obligation, or (ii) exercise or defend legal claims. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal information where you have exercised your right to object to processing (see below).
- Subject to certain conditions, object to processing of your personal information where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal information for direct marketing purposes.
- Subject to certain conditions, request the restriction of processing of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of personal information about you, for example if you want us to establish its accuracy or the reason for processing it.
- Subject to certain conditions, request the transfer of your personal information to another party. If you exercise this right, you should specify the type of information you would like to receive (and where we should send it) where possible to ensure that our disclosure is meeting your expectations. This right only applies if the processing is based on your consent or on our contract with you and when the processing is carried out by automated means (i.e., not for paper records). It covers only the personal data that has been provided to us by you.
- Where our processing of your personal data is based on your consent you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. If you do decide to withdraw your consent we will stop processing your data for that purpose, unless there is another lawful basis we can rely on – in which case, we will let you know. If you withdraw your consent, this will only take effect for future processing.

If you want to review, verify, correct, or request erasure of your personal information, object to the processing of your personal data, or request that we transfer a copy of your personal information to another party, please email one of the email addresses below.

You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal information (or to exercise any of the other rights); however, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request for access is clearly unfounded or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with the request in such circumstances.

You can also contact the Information Commissioner's Office via <https://ico.org.uk/> for information, advice or to make a complaint.

What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is another appropriate security measure to ensure that personal information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it.

9. How do we use cookies?

In our website we use cookies to collect information of how many visitors there are to different parts of the website, which helps us keep our site up to date. We may also use cookies to tailor the content that you see to suit your interests. This facility also allows you to receive personalised advertising relating to products viewed whilst using our website.

Strictly Necessary Cookies

These cookies are necessary to operate our Online Services. They do not store any personally identifiable information. You can set your browser to block or alert you about these cookies, but our Online Services will not work properly without these cookies.

Performance Cookies

These cookies collect information in an anonymous manner about how visitors use our Online Services and how our Online Services perform. These cookies allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors and help us understand which pages are the most popular and where visitors spend most of their time.

Functional Cookies

These cookies enable the website to provide enhanced functionality and personalisation, such as remembering choices you make or information you provide, what region you are in, your login information, or the pages you have viewed. They may be set by us or by third-party providers whose services we have added to our pages. If you do not allow these cookies then some or all of these services may not function properly.

Targeting Cookies

These cookies allow us and our advertisers to deliver advertisements that are relevant to you and your interests. They may be used by us and our advertisers to build a profile of your interests and show you relevant advertisements on other sites. These cookies may track whether you clicked on an advertisement in order to limit the number of times you see a particular advertisement and help us understand the efficacy of our advertising campaigns. They do not directly store personal information, but uniquely identify your browser and device. If you do not allow these cookies, you will experience less targeted advertising.

10. Changes to the privacy & cookies policy

This Privacy Notice was last updated on 23rd May 2024. If it is necessary for us to alter the terms of the Privacy Notice, we will post the revised Privacy Notice here. We encourage you to frequently review the Privacy Notice for the latest information on our privacy practices.
